

The Jericho Underhill Land Trust held our August meeting on a warm summer night at the pavilion at Mills Riverside Park. We are looking towards the fall and hoping to come up with some events for our members including another cairns walk at Wolfrun Natural Area. We are also planning to improve the signage there.

It looks like another banner year for crops at Kikas Valley Farm with pumpkins starting to turn orange and corn beginning to make its appearance. We hope our members got to use the half-price coupons for strawberries at Paul Mazza's farmstand.

The land trust remains interested in helping the town of Jericho conserve part of the Rivers property but we have yet to hear what the plans are. Voters will be given the chance to approve the $1.24 million proposed purchase.
